FOREWORD

For centuries the sound of the trumpet has been lifted with the cry of man's voice. Battle lines have been drawn, triumphal processions heralded, and innumerable tidings proclaimed at the call of brass.

Cries of, "Prepare ye the way" already had ushered into history many heroes of this world when a solitary voice heralded the arrival of the King of the next. This Messiah of Israel soon drew his own battle lines, proclaimed an unequivocal message, and set his face to go to Jerusalem. The acclaim he received so long ago shall be repeated, wrote the apostle Paul, when a trumpet shall again sound and we shall all be changed; and we shall all say, "Blessing and honor, glory and power", at the final entry.

It is this same Messiah whose Spirit now permeates the inner nature of E.N.C.'s people. At His call we have drawn our own battle lines in order to penetrate, to proclaim, to follow. This is E.N.C. . . . and THIS MAN has made the difference.

Dedication

1965 NAUTILUS

To one who lives the maxim that ". . . one can teach no better than he can perform."

To one who in an overly-scheduled day characteristically finds time to cultivate the personal relationship.

To one whose God-given talents have produced a master craftsman of boats, cabins, music, and men.

To one who prefers the deeper joys of A Cappella and Brass Choir over the fame of Boston Symphony.

To one for whom the ideal of perfection, both in Christian life and professional life, is a discipline for the glory of God.

To one whose unselfish devotion and exemplary influence consistently shows us a life in which the living Messiah reigns.

We, the staff, dedicate the 1965 Nautilus to . . .

a superb artist,

a challenging teacher,

an exemplary Christian,

Dr. Paul I. Willwerth

Development Council

Statement of Purpose — Development Council

The Development Council of Eastern Nazarene College is composed of fifty leading Christian laymen who are committed to the cause of Christian Education, and who believe in the objectives and purposes of Eastern Nazarene College. They are elected by the Board of Trustees of the College, and meet in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Trustees.

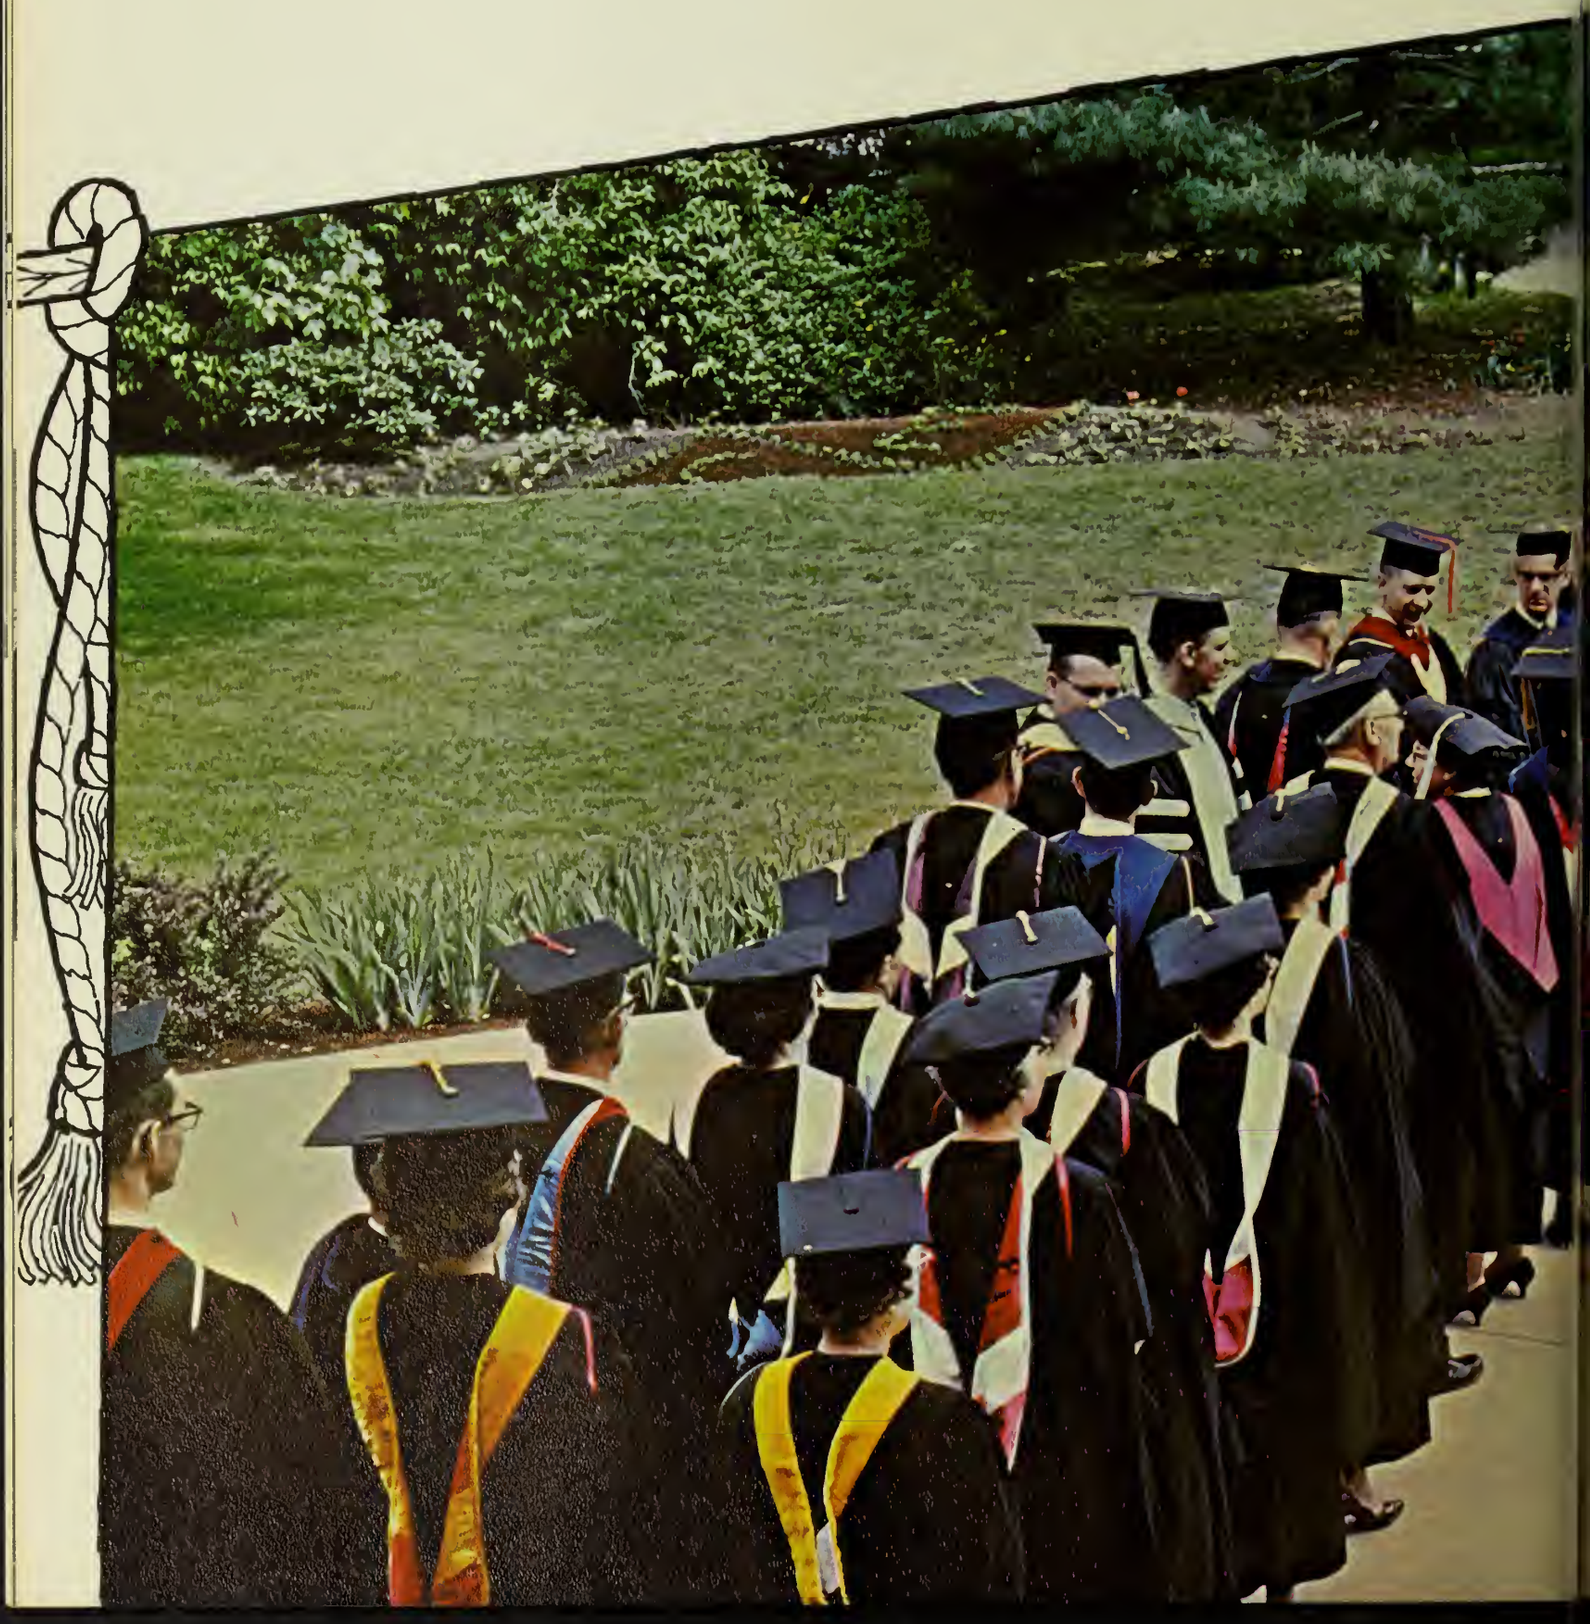

The Development Council is concerned with the growth and development of Eastern Nazarene College. It serves in an advisory capacity to the President and Director of Development, particularly in the areas of public relations, the securing of gifts, annuities, life loans, and bequests, student aid and placement, and student and faculty recruitment.

The Development Council has established two half-tuition scholarships, awarded annually to students of good character and scholastic achievement who have elected one of the pre-professional curriculums as listed in the college catalog. Among many other meaningful activities, the council sponsors annual Development Council dinners in the various areas of the Eastern Educational Zone.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

The accumulated wisdom, insight, and foresight of our faculty and the leadership of the administration have stimulated us to explore the depths of knowledge. As dedicated Christian scholars, they have helped us to unveil many of the mysteries of the universe but have left intact our respect for its fundamental mystery.

In the quest for the intellectual understanding of our faith we have often been confused. Our faculty and administration have assured us that behind the enigma of life, which gradually unfolds for us, we may find a pattern and a purpose worth the investment of our lives.

We have looked to our professional leaders for guidance; they have not failed us. By precedent and precept they have united the intellectual life with the spiritual, giving each its proper symmetry.

In Memoriam

Edith Pierce Goodnow
Dedicated Christian, Wife, Mother, and Faculty Member
July 4, 1901 — September 20, 1964

Our President Speaks to Us:

One of the highlights of any college year is the presentation of Handel's Messiah. Although I have heard it many times, each new occasion is equally thrilling and satisfying. Regardless of the distractions or pressures of the day the message of this great oratorio comes through to me each time with renewed significance.

Fortunate indeed is the person who opens his heart to the message of The Messiah at the same time he is engaged in the pursuit of knowledge. His college career is enriched and his entire outlook on life is broadened. He is combining his scholastic endeavor with a wholesome appreciation of his Christian faith.

The best in education plus the best in our Christian faith" as articulated by Dean Emeritus Bertha Munro has long been the aim of our Alma Mater. We have no higher hope for every student at E.N.C. than the adoption of this ideal as a guide for life.

"Take His yoke upon you and learn of Him, for He is meek and lowly of heart . . . His yoke is easy and His burden is light."

REFLECTIONS OF OUR ALMA MATER . . .

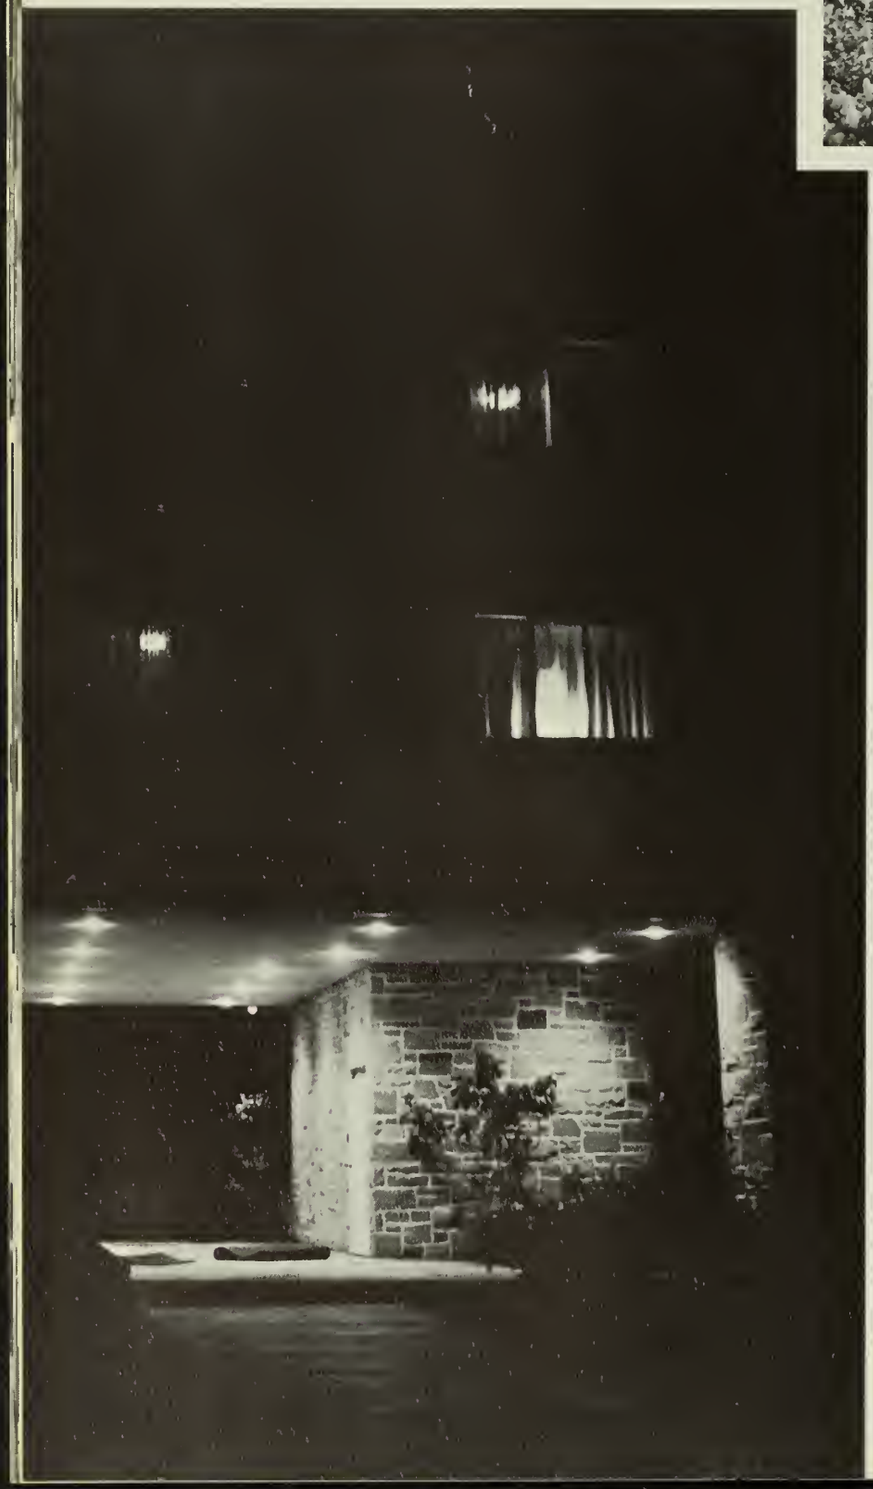

Eastern Nazarene College offers to each of us memories . . . memories of buildings, good times of fellowship, devotion, and social get-togethers . . . As we enter through the gates our eyes turn to gaze at the motto on the seal . . . "Via, Veritas, Vita" . . .

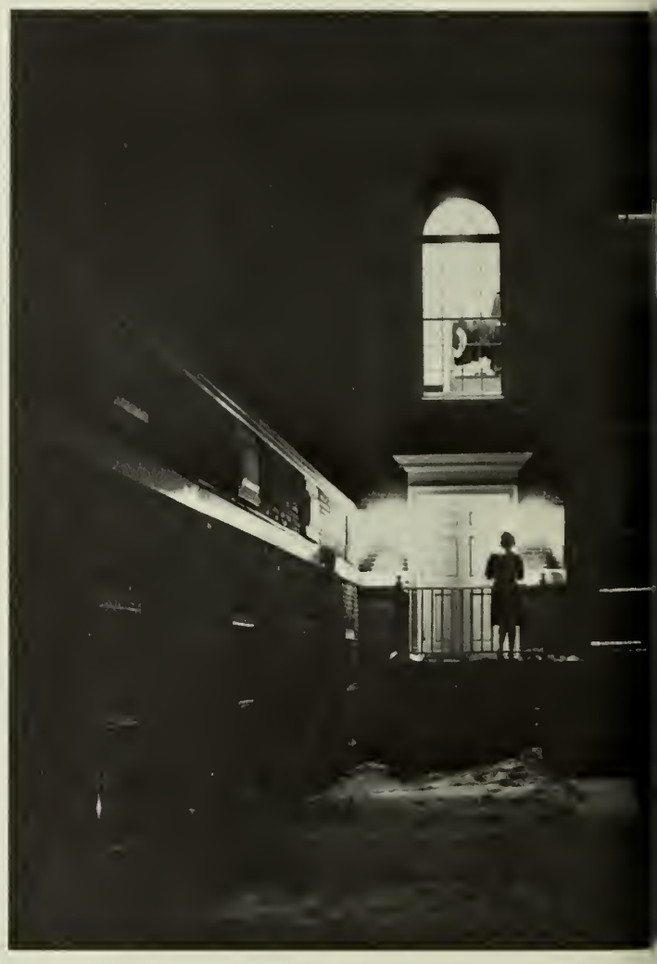

And we suddenly realize the heritage that is ours . . . We see the buildings . . .

The older ones crumbling to make room for the new . . . The impact of the surroundings is felt by all that pass beneath "the shady walks" . . .

Page sponsored by Acme Paint and Supply, Inc.

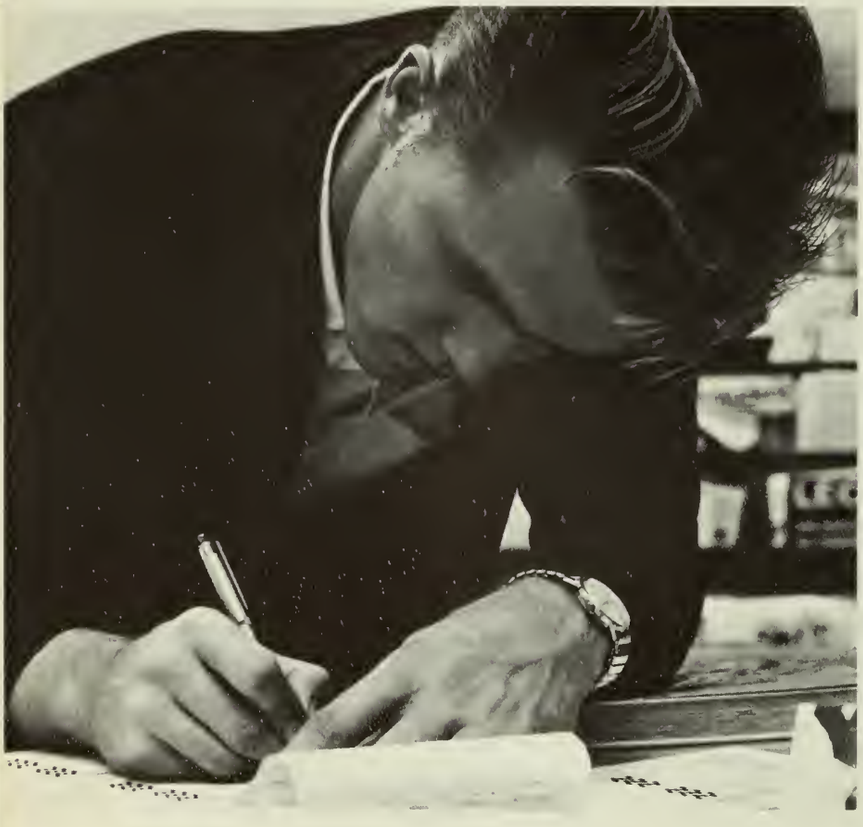

On the horizon appear the new freshmen . . . "the greenies" . . . new acquaintances and adjustments . . . a place of fun, but also of maturing . . .

The toil of what is known as registration keeps one busy and out of mischief . . .

A friendly welcome is extended to all by the Associate Board of the Church . . .

The student may have books to inform him, instructors to challenge him, or just a quiet place to recognize the contribution which the past has made to E.N.C. and the life of its young men and women . . .

"The time — 1894. The place — a classroom filling up with freshmen at M.I.T. Enter another freshman, Leroy Peavey. He takes his seat, notices on the blackboard five words that defame a fellow student, and steps forward immediately to rub them out". . . With these words Professor Alice Spangenberg introduced her Founders' Day Address, "Leroy D. Peavey's Golden Candlestick," in the annual Founders' Day Chapel on October 7. . . . "The time - eternity. The place — a golden room in that other country filling up with saints and angels. Enter Leroy Peavey. He holds high a golden candlestick bearing the sign, 'Remember E.N.C.' And he is singing his chorus — Go on . . . go on . . . go on. . . ."

During a busy year time is then taken to remember and recognize those who founded our college . . .

Informal debates over politics on all corners of the campus . . .

Bulletin boards and mailboxes offer all types of news . . .

A time of relaxation, whether it be in the Dugout with friends . . .

Page sponsored by E.N.C. Dugout.

. . . or amongst societies on Campus Day, deepends this bond of fellowship . . .

Life in the dorms seen in the creativeness of rooms . . . "Home is where the fun is" . . . All seasons are put into action throughout the entire campus . . .

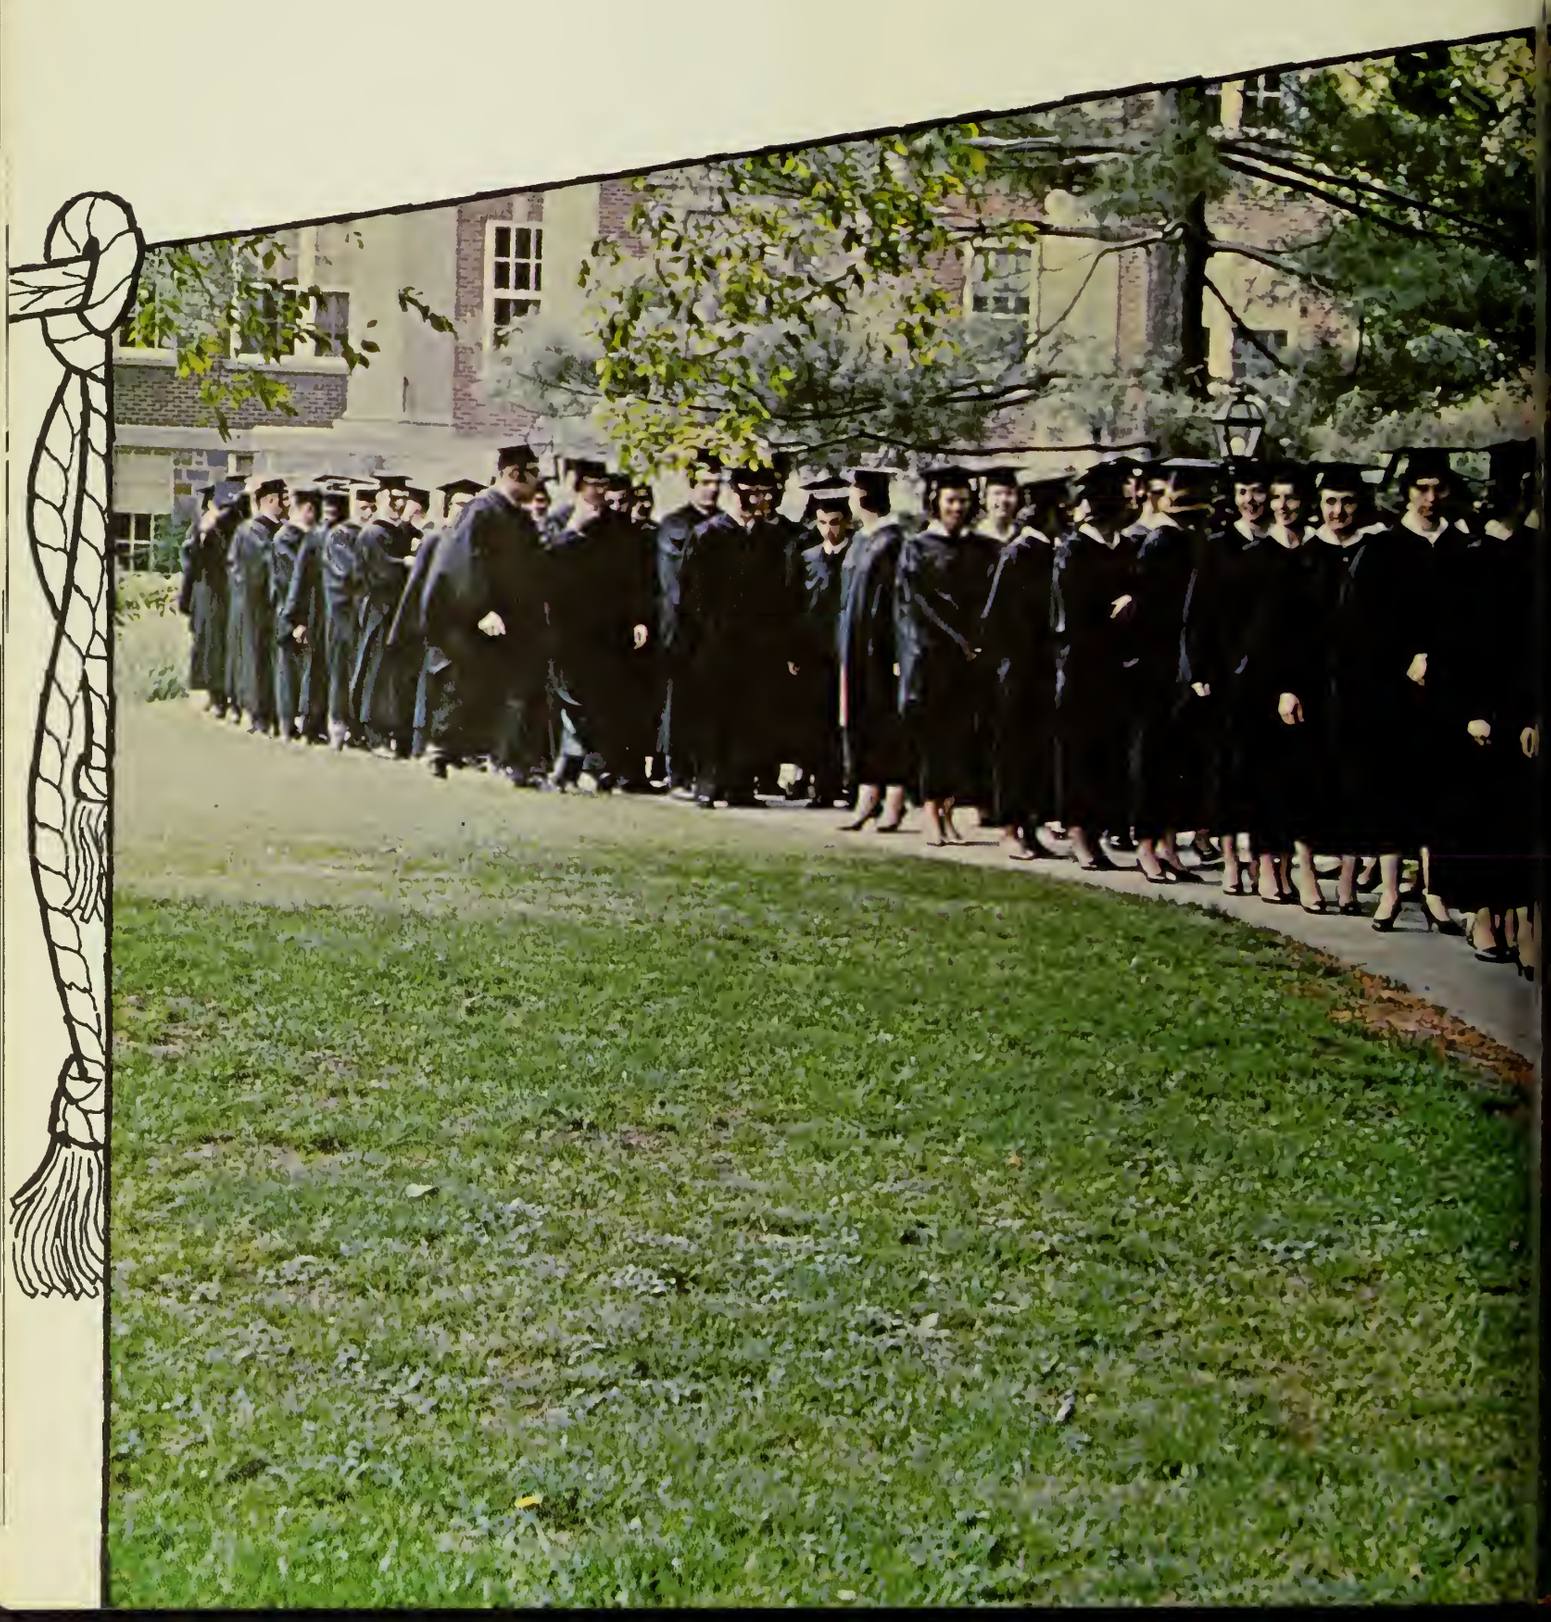

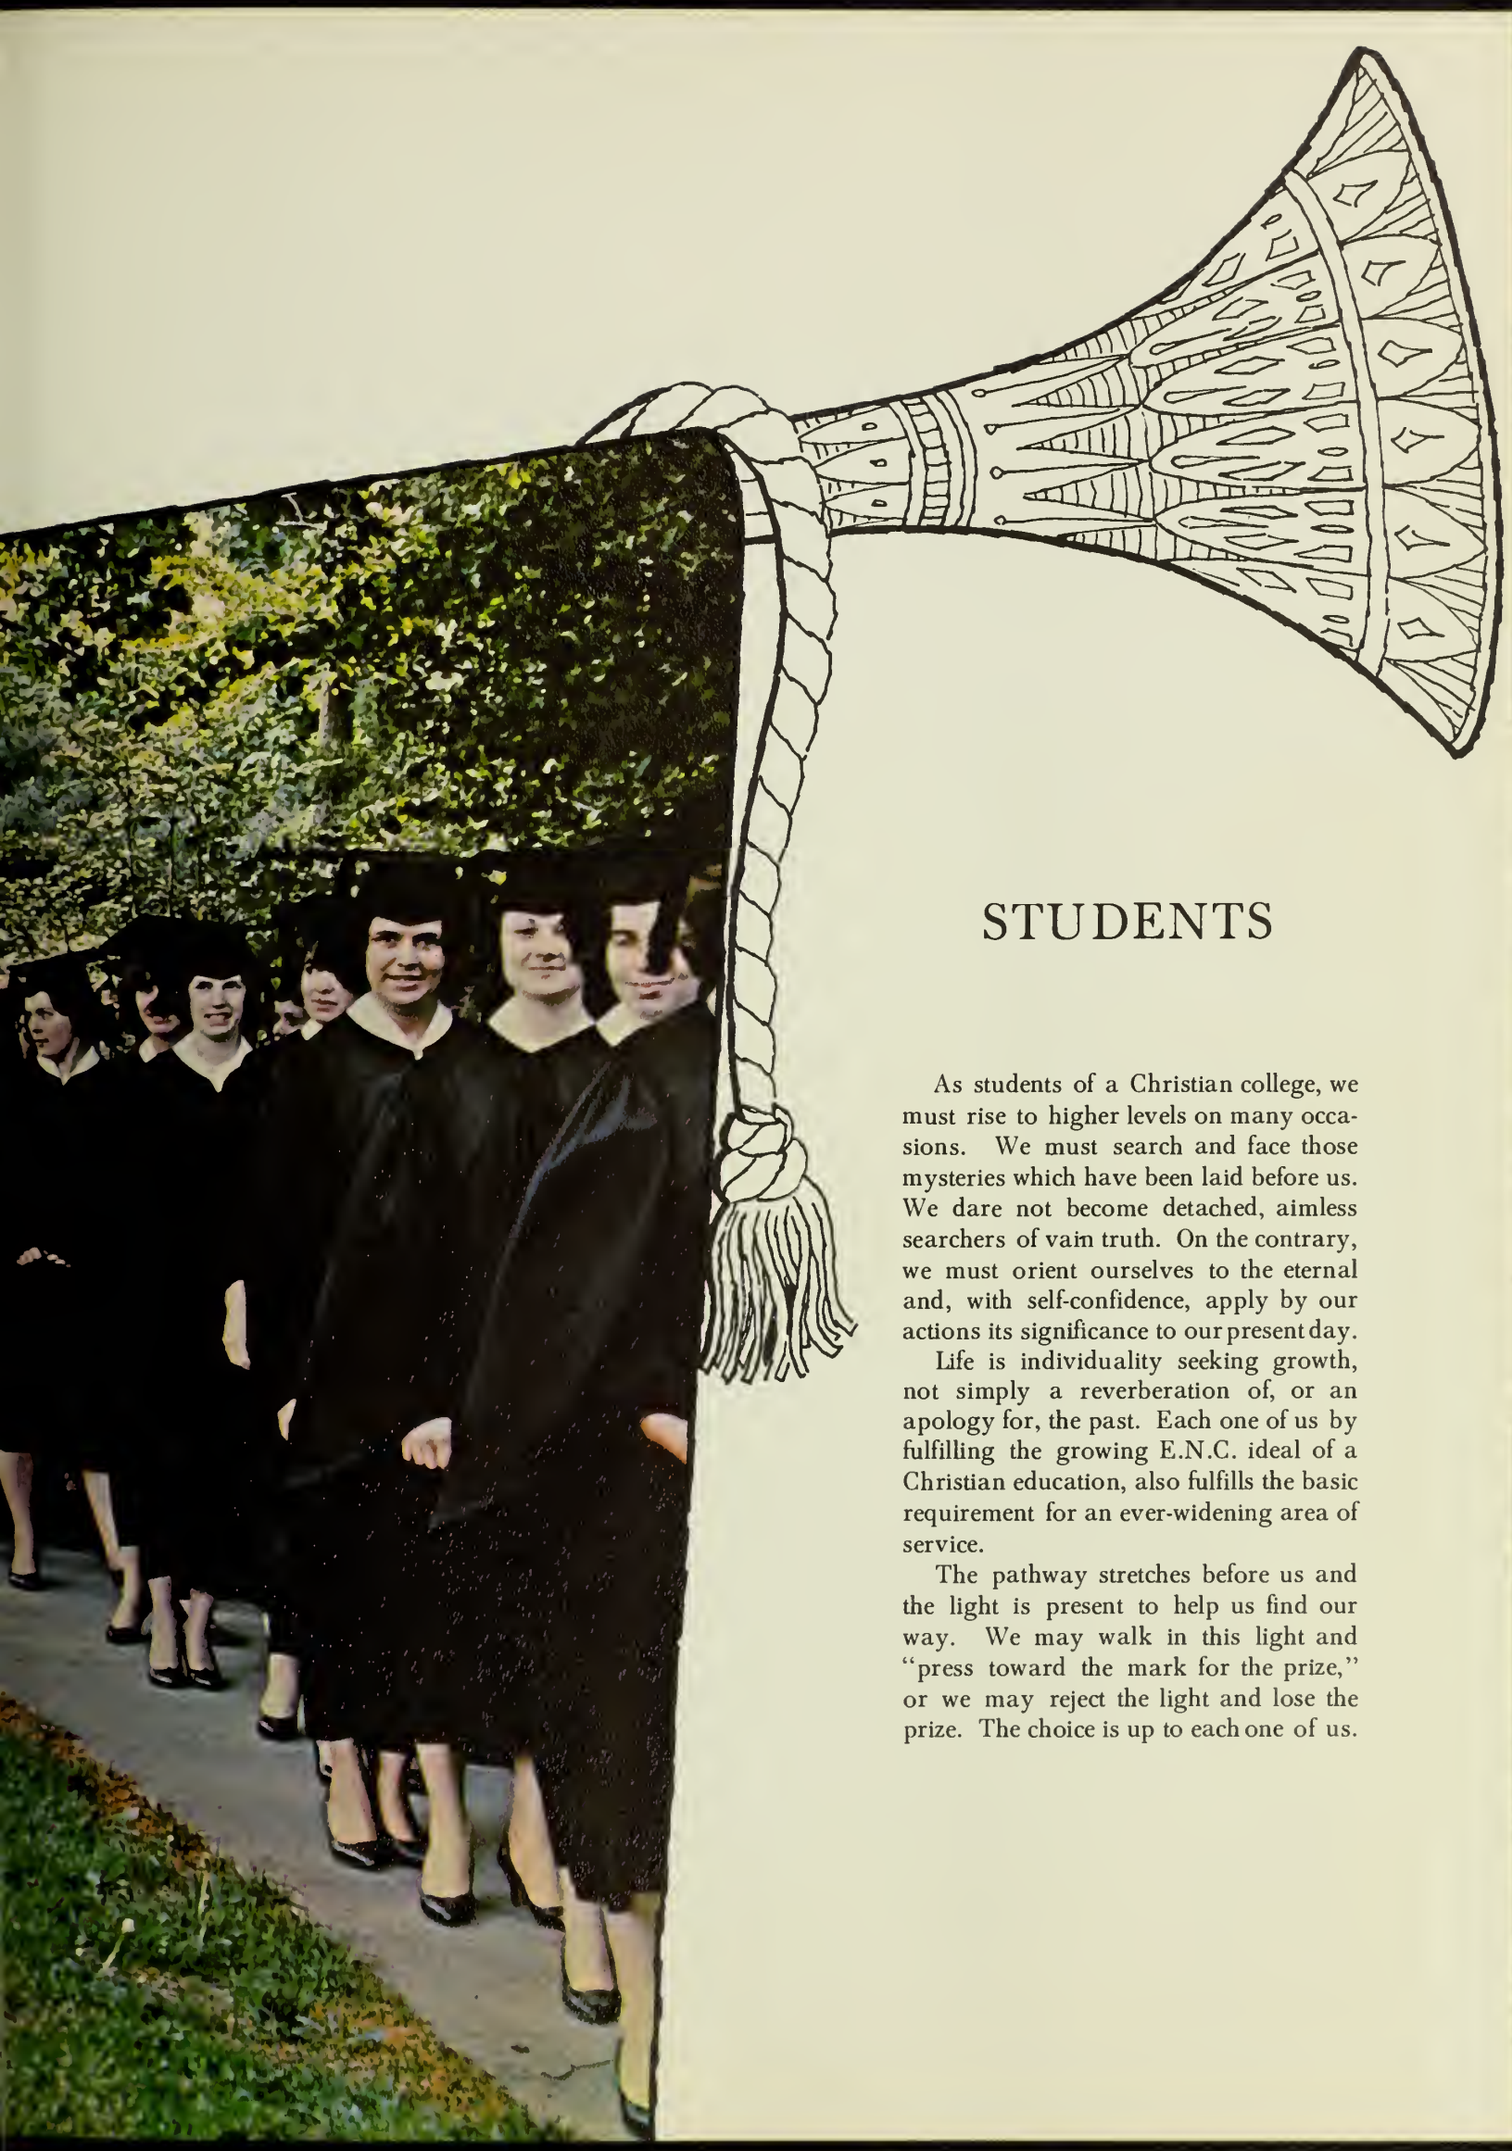

Getting ready for the big night . . . telephone calls . . . where to tonight? . . . ceaseless hours of preparation . . . We will not soon forget the many and varied experiences reflected in the memories of our Alma Mater.

"Arise, shine, for Thy light is come . . ."

As students of a Christian college, we must rise to higher levels on many occasions. We must search and face those mysteries which have been laid before us. We dare not become detached, aimless searchers of vain truth. On the contrary, we must orient ourselves to the eternal and, with self-confidence, apply by our actions its significance to our present day.

Life is individuality seeking growth, not simply a reverberation of, or an apology for, the past. Each one of us by fulfilling the growing E.N.C. ideal of a Christian education, also fulfills the basic requirement for an ever-widening area of service.

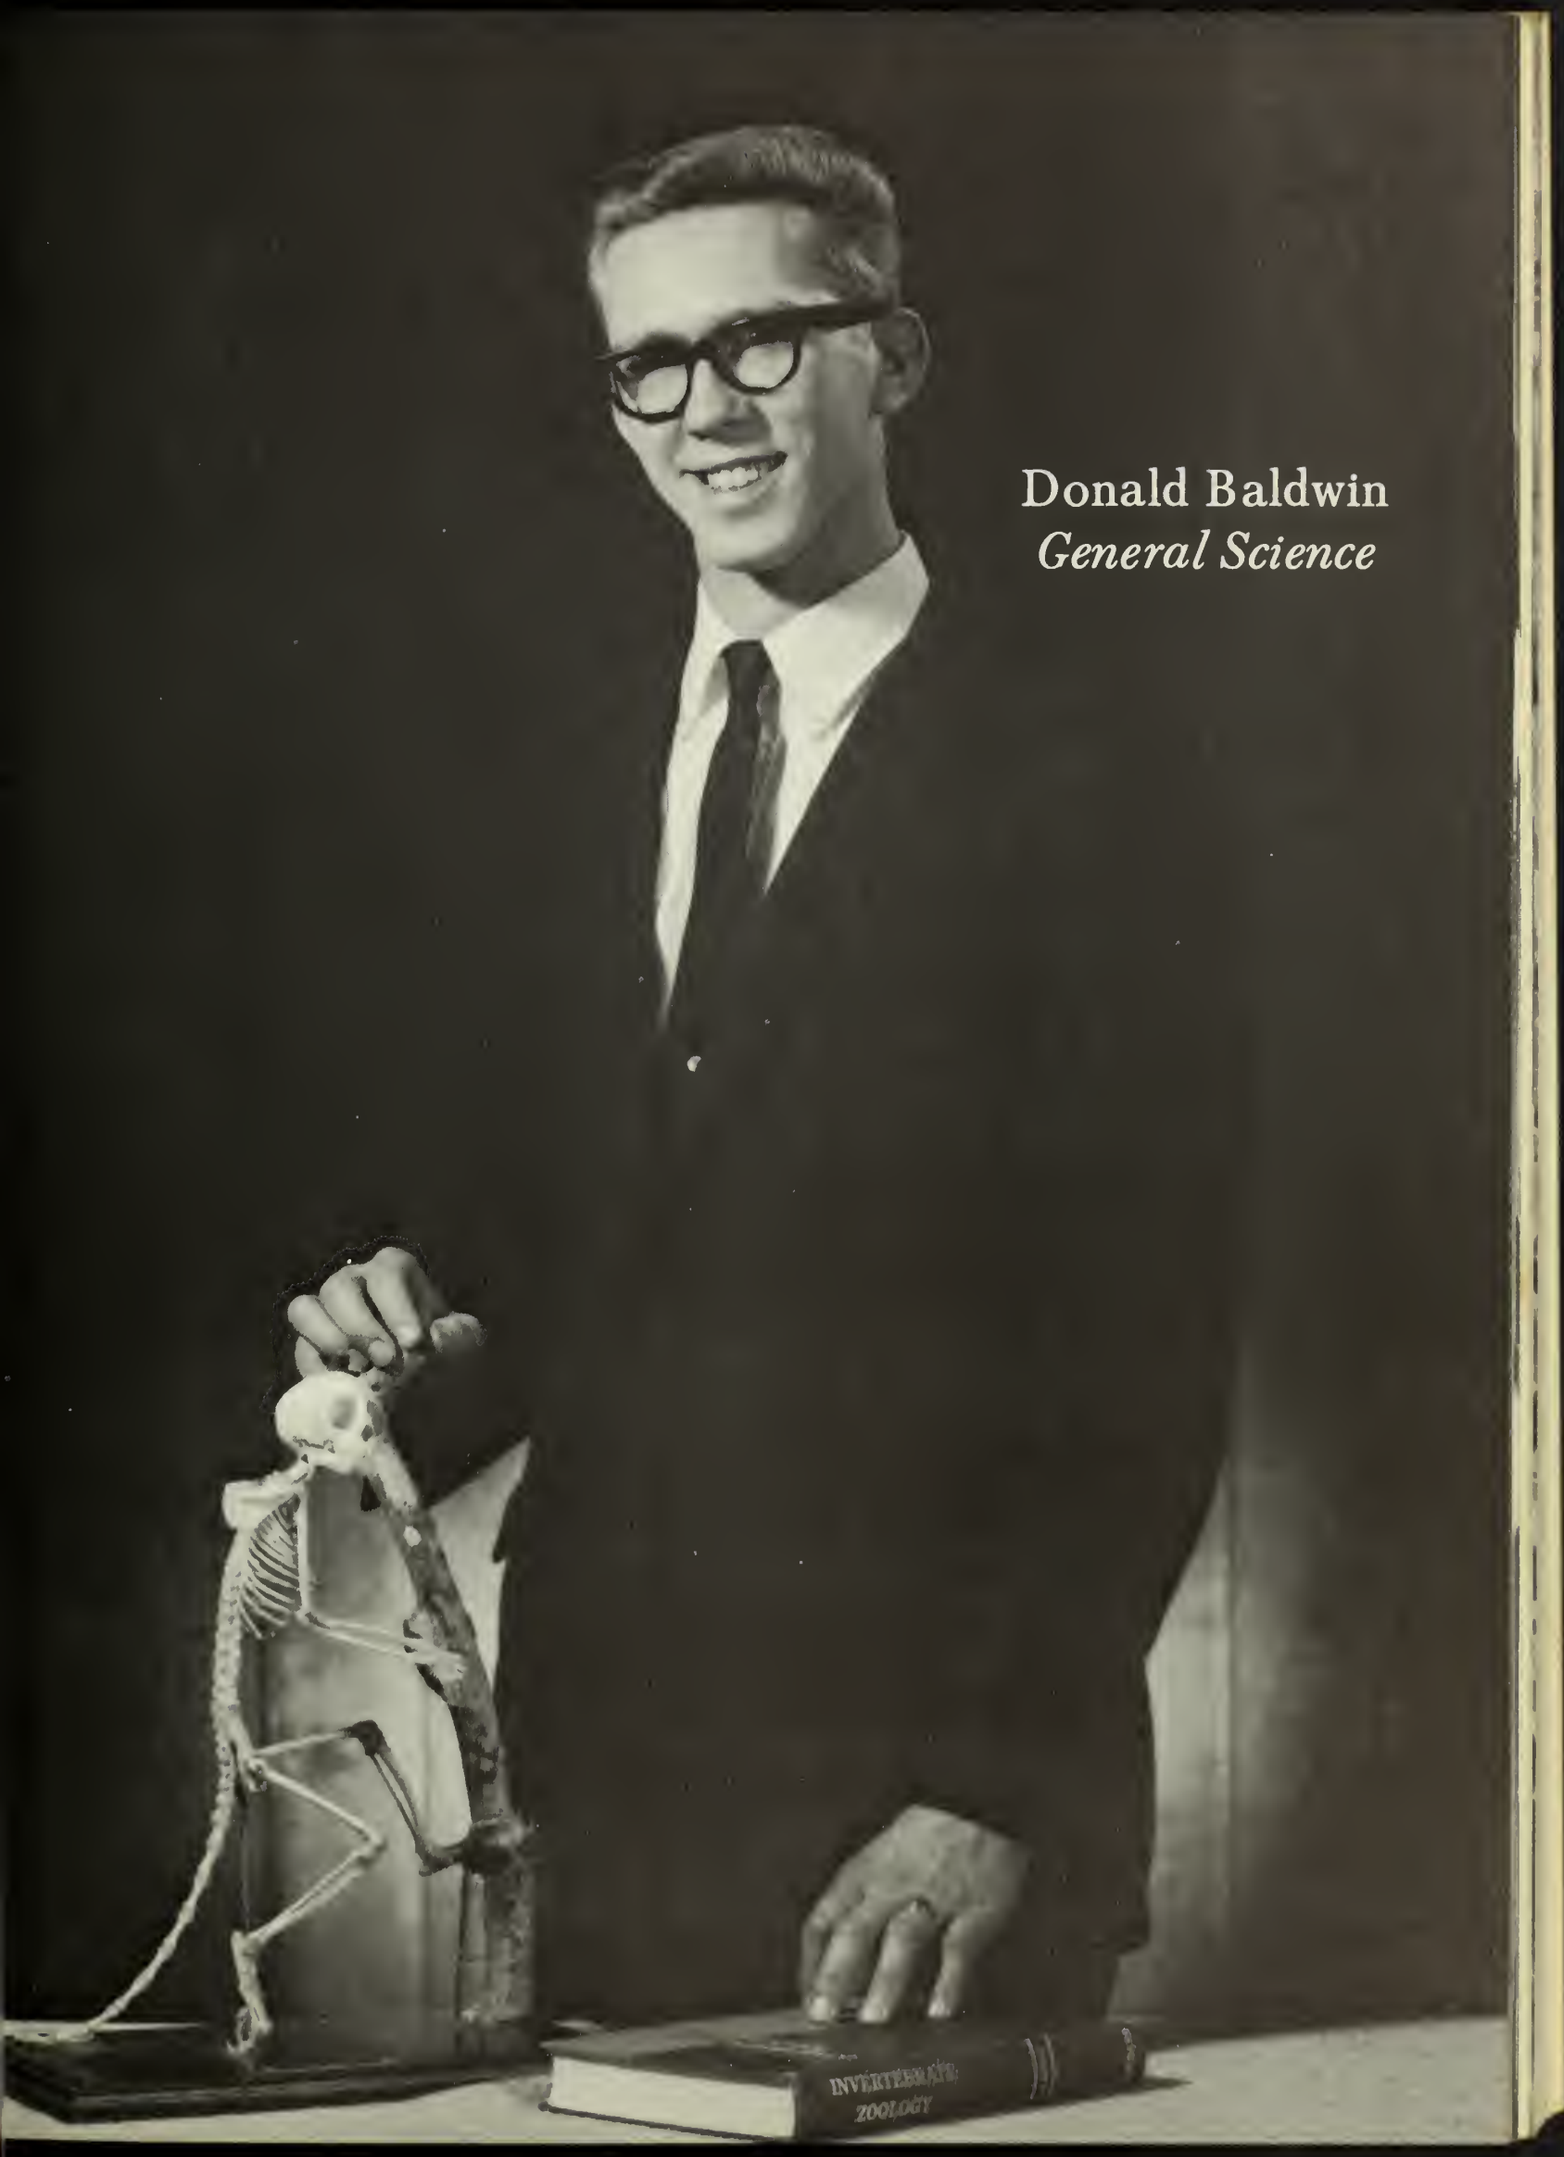

The pathway stretches before us and the light is present to help us find our way. We may walk in this light and "press toward the mark for the prize," or we may reject the light and lose the prize. The choice is up to each one of us.

Who's Who

Eastern Nazarene College is proud to herald the election of fourteen students to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Election to this nationally recognized and distinctive organization is based upon character, scholarship, extra-curricular activities, service to the college, and the promise of future usefulness. The honored students are presented with a certificate of recognition and are privileged to wear the official key—a symbol of a most distinctive achievement in college.

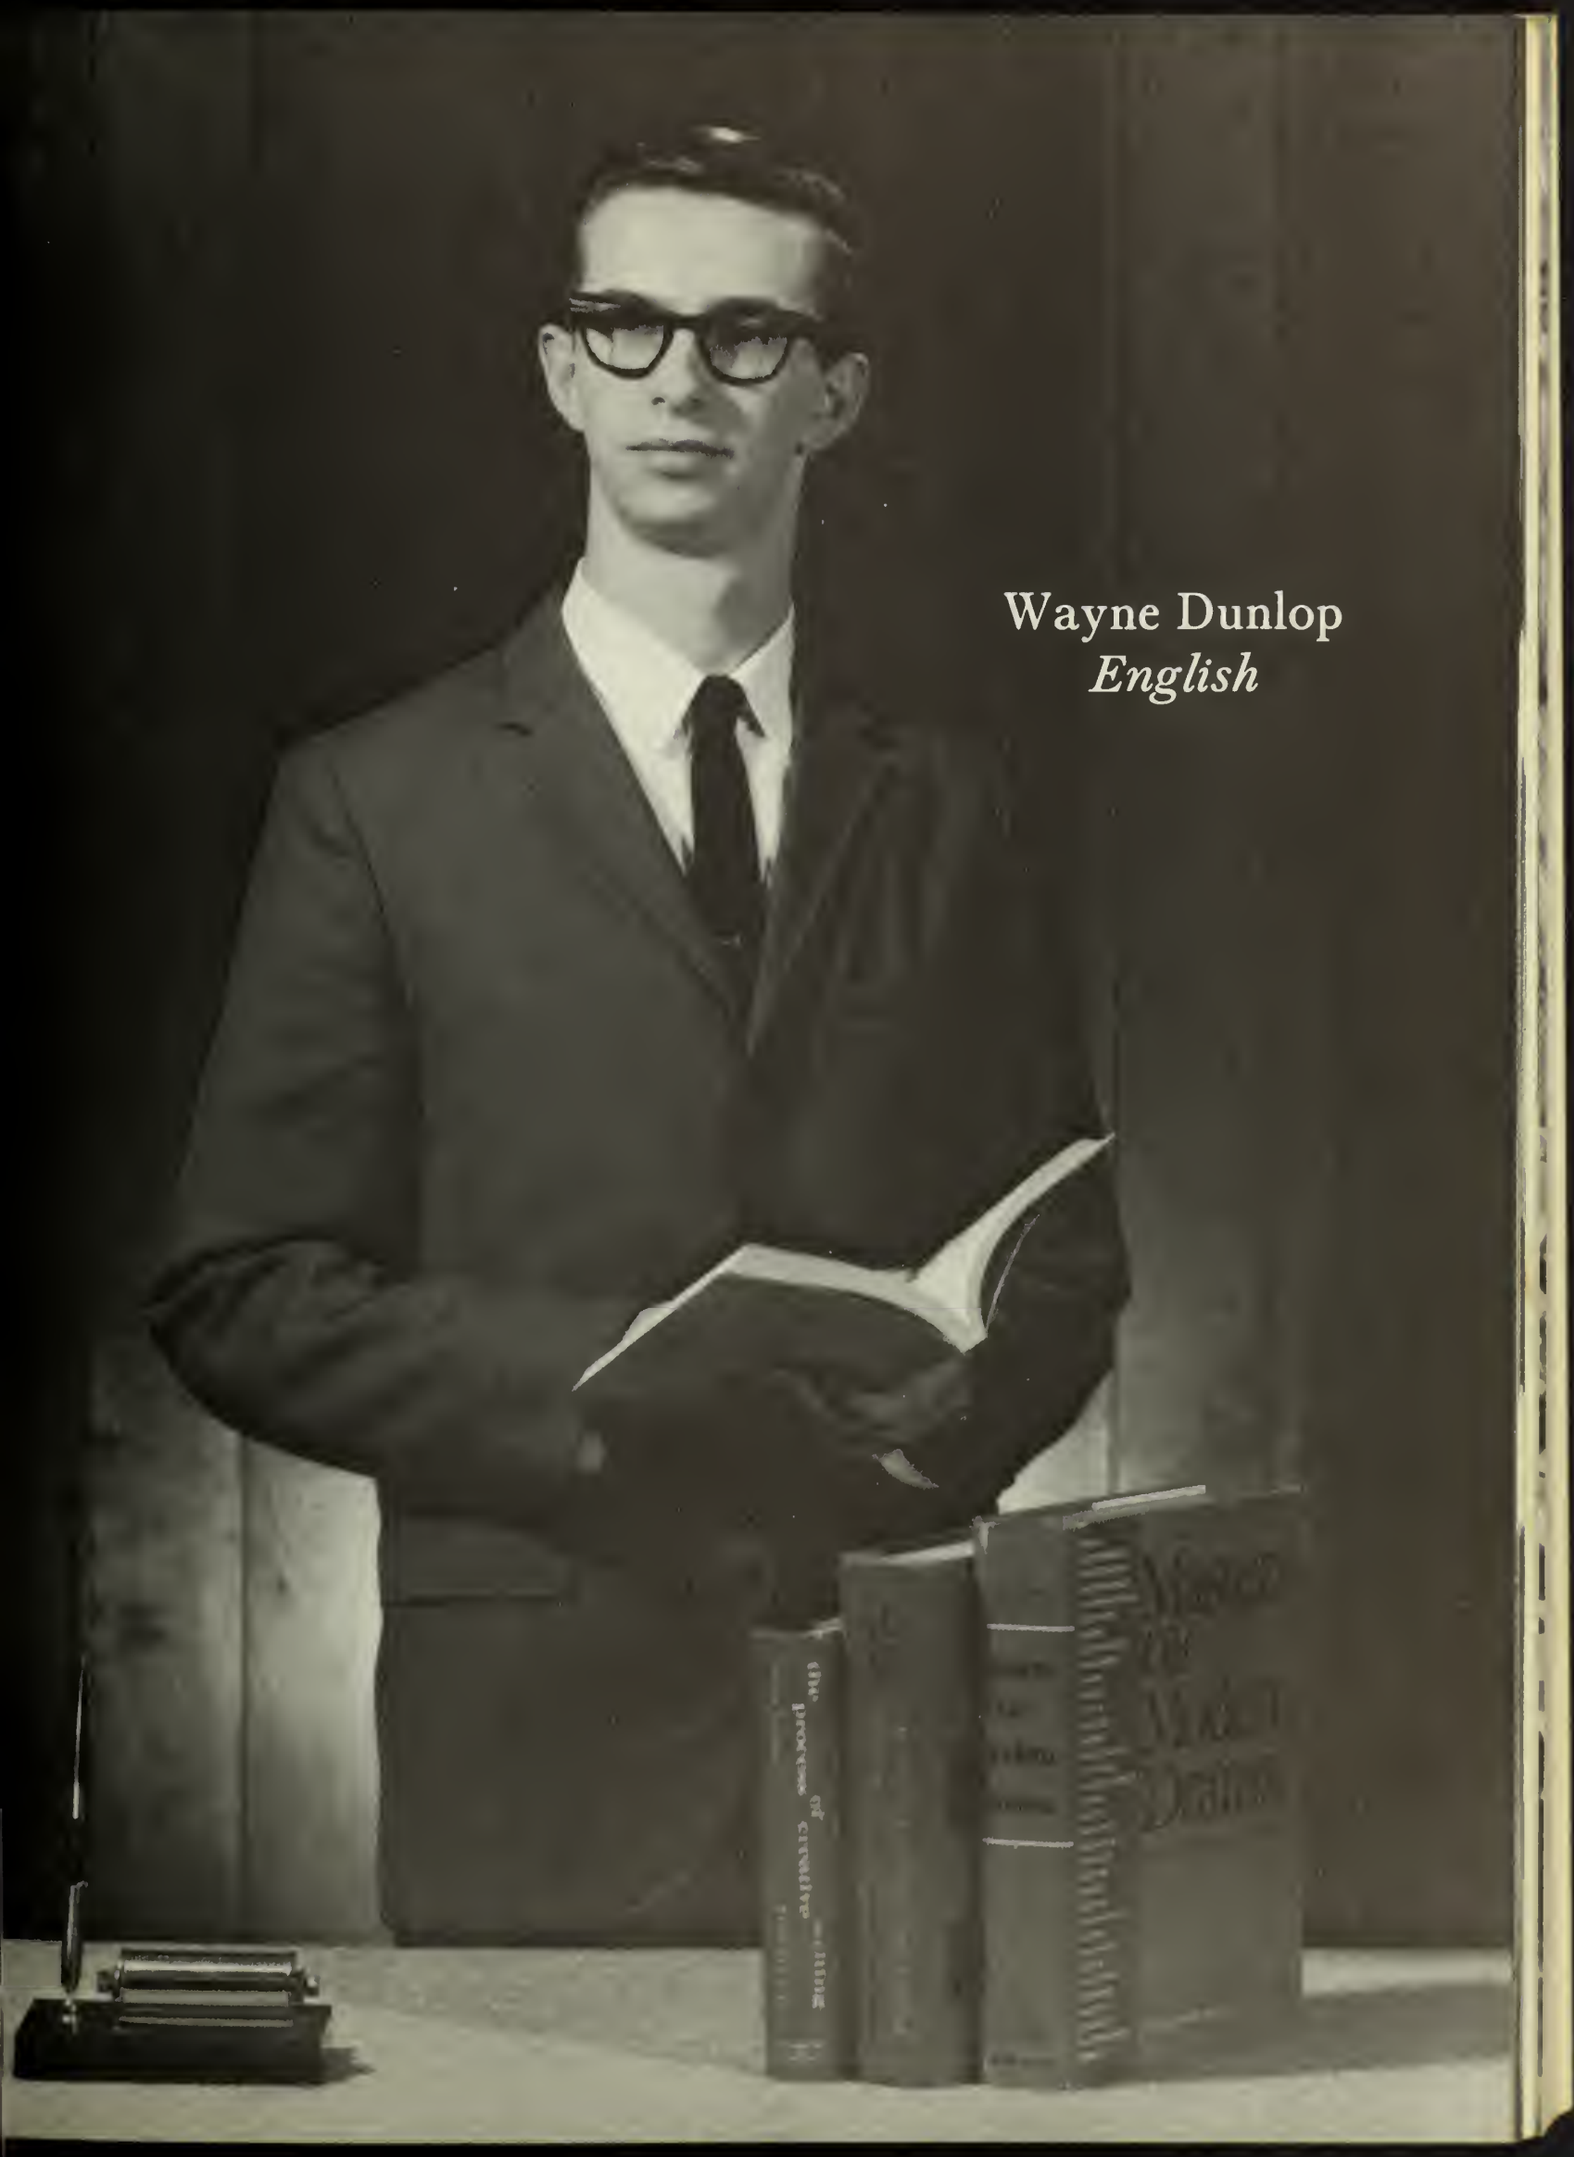

Eastern Nazarene College congratulates and honors these students for work well done. May they have as successful a future as their college life has been.

Graduate Division

The Graduate Division of Theological Studies was created by Faculty action in 1960, following a period of years during which one year of study in Bible and theology was offered beyond the four-year bachelor of arts program. In 1964 the Massachusetts Board of Collegiate Authority granted the College the power to confer the degree Master of Arts with concentration in religion.

The new graduate program is designed to prepare students for various phases of the Christian ministry and foreign missions. While the orientation of the program is primarily that of the Church of the Nazarene, the approach has sufficient breadth of coverage and emphasis to serve the interests of those of other denominational affiliation. Active ministers and furloughed missionaries are welcome, as well as qualified students who wish to pursue graduate work in religion without taking the degree.

The aim of the curriculum is to encourage Biblical understanding, theological competence, social awareness, and practical adaptability. This aim can be brought about only by concern for the whole person — by personal growth and development, the stimulation of the mind, the discovery and enlargement of native capabilities, and the energizing of the whole man by the anointing of the Spirit of God.

EDWARD DRINKWATER
BACHELOR OF THEOLOGY

The Division believes that the primary task of the Christian and the major instrument for its accomplishment is the ministry of God's Word. Training is necessary, and training must be practical as well as academic. The two are interrelated and are integrated within the graduate curriculum. Opportunities exist, and additional opportunities are being sought for student participation in various phases of the work of the Church during graduate study.

"The glory of the Lord shall be revealed . . . ”

ACTIVITIES

In our preparation for life, we have begun to realize the importance of the “total man”. In the pursuit of spiritual and intellectual goals, we have attained a measure of peace and power. But the total man also includes the more carefree aspect of life — participation in social activities. Here in college our experiences have been unified through sports activities, fine arts programs, and dormitory living.

The practical aspect of Christianity has been revealed through cooperation, sportsmanship, and loyalty. Sharing of experiences helps one to enlarge one’s own horizons. By being individuals who work together for E.N.C. and for Christ, His glory has been revealed.

Our Song

Hey! Look us over, we're black and blue,
Been to New Hampshire for a day or two;
Fell down the ski slope, slipped on the ice,
For those who can't do the herring-bone,
The side step up the hill is nice.
And when we got chilly, we eased inside,
"Rook," chess and T.V. by the fireside.
And to cure our huge raging appetites
They stuffed us with food galore,
And the girls went back for more!

Some sneaking seniors sweetened the Wells,
Sugared the beds and sewed up clothes as well.
Others played games until 2:00 A.M.
And slept the following morn' til noon,
But then we dragged them out again.
We rode on tobbogans part of the time,
Sometimes on boulders — really kills the spine!
We could even ski backwards down
The hill before they taught us how,
But we still cannot snowplow.

Two hour lecture in freezing cold,
But then my pine cone souvenir got stole.
Skated to marches in the falling snow
But that was not near as funny a sight
As someone's first try going up the tow.
There are snapshots for blackmail, tales never told,
Memories of "Woodbound," cookouts in the cold,
And although exhausted and black and blue,
With every muscle sore,
We would still go back for more!

". . . and we came to a screeching halt."

"I know that my Redeemer liveth . . ."

RELIGIOUS LIFE

The chief cornerstone of our faith is the death and resurrection of Christ, the Messiah. The angelic message on that first Easter morn echoes in our lives today: "He is not here; for He is risen." Christ lives to provide hope and assurance for all who trust in Him.

The religious activities in our college have given students the opportunity to experience joy in serving the living Messiah. Hearing the message in chapel, proclaiming the gospel to those in need, singing his praise in the hospital ward . . . Christ has been revealed.

Our spiritual leaders have prepared the way for many to follow in the footsteps of Christ. "We know that our Redeemer liveth and because He lives, we too shall live."

Chaplain's Message

"Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God." (Isaiah 40:3)

The avenues of asphalt lead us to the City of Nowhere. About us, restless as the sea, is that struggling, seething, moving humanity which seeks to find deliverance from the servitude of the undisciplined desire, the perverted delight, and the purposeless design of life.

But where are they going? Revolt against the system which oppresses? Certainly! For any rebellion against that which captures, is it not justified? But this vanity of vanities calls for an answer.

In the desert of living, I make a highway for my God. I prepare the way. He comes. Deliverance is mine. And the glory of the Lord is revealed. With Augustine I say, "For Thou hast formed us for Thyself, and our hearts are restless till they find rest in Thee."

The Messiah has come!

Milton Poole

Assistant Chaplain's Message

What are you living for? This question can take on as many shades of meaning as it has words, yet each answer will reveal the same sobering truth. It is this truth that gives purpose or meaningfulness to life.

The tragedy is that many of the things for which people live do not really make life worth living. Those who pursue pleasure, possessions, or position alone eventually conclude with the Preacher that all is "vapor of vapors and futility of futilities." He who lives only "under the sun" finds no lasting life enjoyment.

Life that is worth living must find its purpose and pattern in a Person. It is my prayer that we might be able to assist each student to understand and experience these words of Jesus: "I came that they may have and enjoy life, and have it in abundance."
